The People's Column

There is considerable discussion these days about Earle B. Mayfield, the Ku Klux Klan and the World Court. The Klan, in a false interpretation of the meaning of "Americanism", has the idea that this term means that the United States should not enter the World Court. Senator Earle B. Mayfield of Texas, disregarding the insistence of the Klan, voted for the World Court. He also voted for the League of Nations. Now, Jim Ferguson, who is expected to run against Mayfield for the Senate in 1928, comes out and says that the Klan was right in opposing the world court movement. Here we may have a Ku Klux running on an anti-Klan issue, and an anti-Klan man running on a Ku Klux issue. If Senator Mayfield could succeed in making the World Court movement the campaign issue of 1928, he probably will win his contest for re-election, James E. Ferguson, Alvin Owsley, Tom Connally and other notwithstanding.

'Rooter's Special' Coming On Friday

A "Rooters' Special" train will be run over the Missouri Pacific Lines to the Rice-Aggie football game on Kyle field at College Station next Friday, November 12th, it is announced by C. W. Strain, passenger traffic manager. The special train to the A. and M. College which will leave the Union Station at 9:30 a. m. will be fully equipped with dining car service, serving meals, sandwiches, etc., and arrive at College Station at 12:00 noon. Returning the train will leave at 6:45 p. m. and arrive Houston at 9:15 p. m. The round-trip fare is reduced to $2.40. Increased interest being manifested in the coming crash between the Owls and Aggies this year, it was said, warrants the special train with dining car service for the convenience of Rice students and other fans.

Music-Hall Artist Makes Violins While Waiting

(Associated Press.) LONDON, Nov. 10.—George Robey, the famous British music-hall artist, makes violins during his waits in theatres. This has been his hobby for years. He assembles materials from all parts of the world and has become so expert that he ventured to present Fritz Kreisler with an instrument he made. Kreisler is so pleased with it that he intends to use it in his public concerts.

A. & M. STUDENTS RESENT REPORT FROM BAYLOR

EVENTS LEADING UP TO TRAGIC DEATH OF CADET ARE RECITED

A. and M. Boys Believed That Occupants of Bucking Ford Were Boys Dressed as Girls—Local Students Doubt Sincerity of Baylor's Protection of Womanhood Statements.

(Special to The Eagle) COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8.—In a statement issued here to the public by a committee of the senior class and endorsed by the entire A. and M. College of Texas student body, a recital is made of events leading up to and transpiring during the Baylor-A. and M. student affray at Waco on October 30. The student affray at Waco came during the period between halves of the Baylor-A. and M. football game. Cadet Lieutenant Charles M. Sessums, of Dallas, A. and M. senior died as the result of a blow on the head received during the clash.

Recent press reports were to the effect that petitions urging reverence of all athletic relations by Baylor with A. and M. were being circulated on the campus at Baylor. These petitions, as quoted, set forth among other things, the existence of belief on the part of Baylor students "that those students of A. and M. who initiated joined in and condoned their action of Saturday have violated every principle of a sportsman's code."

The statement of the A. and M. students in opening sets forth that "it is our heartfelt desire to give to our friends, prospective friends and public in general, who maintain this wonderful school for us, a true and unbiased statement gathered from sworn affidavits". The statement in full is as follows:

To Protect A. and M. "In this statement we hope to protect A. and M. interests and A. and M. men, both enrolled at the College now and those who have been here in the past, from further insults and mis-leading statements, through the press and erroneous reports coming from people with biased viewpoints. It is not our purpose to enter into any sort of newspaper controversy but it is our heartfelt desire to give to our friends, prospective friends and public in general, who maintain this wonderful school for us, a true and unbiased statement gathered from sworn affidavits. These facts were gathered by the exhaustive efforts of the Discipline Committee of the College, composed of the President, the Commandant, and Deans of the College. This is our first statement and is provoked by the insulting, biased, and unfair statements and accusations coming from Baylor University.

A. and M. Students Grieve. "For more than a week the student body of the A. and M. College of Texas has been plunged into the agony of grief from the loss of a brother student. There are tears drying as they roll down the cheeks of fine, clean, stalwart men, weeping from the loss of a brother. The boy who has heard "Taps" played for the last time is looking back from the windows of Heaven, and with a smile on his face that he retained even when the dark angel of death swooped down upon him, he is crying out to his brothers here to "Carry on, old Army, carry on, for the love of A. and M."

"The A. and M. College is your gift to us, your children. Our school is famous throughout the Nation for its wonderful spirit, and for the love its students have for their institution and for their fellow students. There are many traditions here that are as dear to the student as are the members of his own family. There is certain love of justice, fair dealing, honesty, and an acute love for clean sportsmanship instilled in every loyal student, the principles of which shall not be violated.

First Ford Two Years Ago. "Two years ago, the Baylor cheering section sponsored the tour of a 'Bucking Ford' with the rear hub set eccentrically, with a saddle oil drum perched on the back end, and which in design was supposed to represent the Texas Aggies who were being ridden by the Baylor Cowboy who sat in the saddle. This play was received in fun by the cadets until the Ford, due either to poor driving or malicious intent on the part of the driver, came very near injuring members of the Aggie football team as it ran through their midst while they sat or reclined along the sidelines. This infuriated the cadets beyond the comprehension of any person who does not know how dearly the A. and M. man loves his football team. The memory of this incident is still odious to A. and M. men. The idea has become traditional and other schools know this to be a fact and have respected our feeling to the extent that it has never happened again until the Saturday in Waco. Even then, as on previous occasions, we suffered to see one of our military drills and our unit.

Edward W. Bok Sponsors Natural Park for Florida

(Associated Press.) LAKE WALES, Fla., Nov. 10. A natural park, where wild life and plants of Florida will be preserved, is being built near here by Edward W. Bok, journalist and author, who maintains a winter home in the suburbs of this city. One artificial lake already has been constructed and a second one is planned. These lakes will harbor the flock of flamingoes which Mr. Bok imported from South America, as well as a number of nightingales imported from England. Both birds were native of Florida. The park, covering 26 acres, will be known as Mountain Lake Bird Preservation. Mr. Bok has made plans for the erection on the top of the mountain a carillon that will contain 67 bells.

Johnny Smith of Los Angeles, California is spending the week in Bryan visiting his sister, Mrs. H. A. Robinson and family at their home at beautiful Dellwood Park. Mr. Smith is a singer of note and his many friends are enjoying the pleasure of hearing him sing during this visit to Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mitchell have taken apartments at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Kern on east 24th street.

Miss Mary Locke was in Bryan on business today from her home at Taber.

Miss Essie Shealey of Reliance was a visitor in Bryan today.

THAT NIGHT

That night the students of A. and M. gathered together for their customary yell practice. It was raining and a cold wind blew from the north. The 2200 cadets stood before the "Y" steps, where each night "Farmers Fight" rings out and loud yells greet the playing of "Wildcat." But that night the cadets were silent.

The Band took up their instruments, the yell leaders came out on the steps. Not "Wildcat," but the impressive, moving notes of "Near My God To Thee," floated out over the campus. Then a long hush as the students of A. and M. paid a silent tribute to the brother who had been called to his last resting place.

I did not know Charlie Sessums personally. I was not to feel the pang his intimate friends felt. But as I stood with bowed, uncovered head in the midst of that crowd of stone-like cadets—the only sound the soft dripping of the rain and an occasional smothered sob—I thanked Charlie Sessums for the pain in my heart and the tightening of my throat. What years of yell practice had taught me I saw before my eyes—I saw Aggie land as one big home, and the knowledge that each silent cadet felt our loss as keenly as though he was honoring his blood brother was a sweet knowledge to me.

A brief talk by Jake, a few words by Dietel, and "Taps"—never before so perfect a prayer—and yell practice was over. "Charlie Sessums, in one brief hour you have given me faith and love; you have shown me the A. and M. I have sought for years." As I walked slowly back to my room I echoed in my heart the words Jake read to us that night:

"AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR"
"The wings of death have settled down
On thee, old pal of mine,
You lived your life, but now 'tis gone
God rest you and your kind.
An Aggie ever good and true
Old boy, old pal of ours
Your memory is with us Lad,
At this eleventh hour.

"News came before the sun rose high;
We grieved, and are still grieving lad,
At this eleventh hour.

"Aggie of ours, in manhood's prime
Time leaves little but names
But you and yours, will always live
In Aggie halls of fame.
When age has lightened hair to gray
When Memory sways in power
It's you that'll come back, Laddie mine,
At the eleventh hour.

"And now this fateful day is done,
Thou rest, an unbloomed flower,
And Silver Taps blows once again
At this eleventh hour."
—James E. Gunn, in "The Battalion."

Henry Ford Paying Incidental Fees Of Queen Marie

(By Associated Press.) VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 10.—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, has been paying the incidental expenses of Queen Marie of Rumania and her royal party during their American tour, it was revealed Saturday by J. B. Ayres, personal representative of Mr. Ford with the party. Ayres estimated the queenly tour would cost Mr. Ford about $500,000. Expenses have included "loans" to members of her majesty's retinue for everything from cigarettes and chewing gum up to limousines, it was said. Ford has been paying all automobile transportation and baggage expenses and all costs of the party wherever the queen has stopped. Mr. Ayres said automobiles had been the largest expense. Everywhere the queen stops and is moved in cars, there have been only sedans and limousines furnished on Henry Ford's orders, who pays for the time of the men used as drivers and for approximately $1,000 less expected on each car when it is sold. To date 168 automobiles have been used.

Ayres said that when her majesty arrives in New York she will find a specially built sedan awaiting her, trimmed in dark blue with royal purple wheels and the royal arms on the sides, the personal gift of the automobile manufacturer.

School Grounds Will Be Shady At Hogg's Wish

AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—Green trees will be planted on over 1,000 school grounds in Texas as a result of one of the last wishes of Governor James Stephen Hogg of Texas, and will grow from pecans and walnuts, which grew from trees upon his grave in Austin.

Under Governor Hogg's instructions, a pecan tree was planted at the foot of his grave and a walnut tree at the head. He instructed that the fruit of these trees be sent to the A. and M. College and be distributed to the schools which would plant or set out the trees. County Agent Walter E. Davis has just gathered his first two pecans from the two trees over Governor Hogg's grave, and is sending these nuts to Dean E. J. Kyle of A. and M. for compliance with Governor Hogg's directions.

Man Seventy-Six Father of Eighty-Seven Children

(Associated Press.) BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The story of a man who twice married, at 76 is the father of 87 children, 84 of whom are living, is reported by the Vienna medical association journal. Bernard Scheinberg, living near the German border had 69 children by his first wife who died at the age of 56, the journal says. Not one was a single birth. There were four quadruplets, seven triplets and 16 twins. Sixty-seven of the children are living, but he admits having lost count of the grandchildren. Scheinberg's second marriage at the age of 57 was blessed with 18 children, including two sets of triplets. His second wife is still living.

AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY BEGINS THE USE OF AIRPLANES BETWEEN CHICAGO AND DALLAS

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The American Railway Express is to take to the air.

Robert M. Cowie, president, announced today that a contract to carry the company's packages by plane over two routes—the first of a proposed great national network—has just been signed with the National Air Transport, Inc. The first route will be between New York and Chicago and the second between Chicago and Dallas, Texas, with service to intermediate points on both lines. Later as the system grows, the zoom of the air express will probably sound out over the West where the clatter of hoof-beats once scheduled to be in full operation on or before April 15, next year.

The demand of American commerce for the quickest possible transportation service at all times Mr. Cowie said today, "is responsible for the innovation. The establishment of new service represents the linking of the huge, war unified railway organizations of the country, and one of the largest private capital air transport corporations in the world. The express company will function in the pick-up and local delivery of express packages, and the plane transport organization will do the carrying. By air service the express company expects to save one full business day in the delivery of express matter, of the size and weight for air transportation, between New York and Chicago, and between the latter city and Dallas. The planes will fly at night, as well as during the day, on fast schedules, with economy of time one of the chief objectives.

Cigarette Causes $750 Currency Fire

LAREDO, Nov. 10.—Fire in the office of District Clerk Joe R. Davis in the county court house building on Sunday afternoon caused the loss of $750 in cash and a number of bills of indictment.

The money, all currency, and bills of indictment were on the plate glass top of a desk. A cigarette left on the edge of the desk is believed to have blown into the papers during the absence of District Clerk Davis in an adjoining room and caused the fire. When he reached the desk all the money and indictments were a mass of flames.

The grand jury will probably have to be reconvened to replace the destroyed indictments.

Milady's Stockings Have Important Bearing On Cotton

DALLAS, Nov. 10.—The torments of women's stockings are a factor in the southern cotton situation, says Congressman Charles J. Easler of Reading, Pa., now in Dallas, who is in a position to know because he is a hosiery manufacturer whose concern sells $12,000,000 of goods a year.

"Before skirts were at knee length and higher we used mercerized cotton for the tops of hosiery," he said. "Now milady's stockings must be all silk, or at least so nearly all silk as to almost eliminate the use of cotton in their manufacture."

A. & M. Has Largest Representation Of Any Southern College At Student Conference Just Held In Alabama

(Special to The Eagle) COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 10.—Of all the Texas educational institutions represented by student delegates at the All-Southern Baptist Student Conference in Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 28-31, the A. and M. College of Texas had the largest representation, Rev. R. L. Brown, pastor of the Baptist Church at the College, who has just returned from the conference, reports. In all, approximately 200 students from Texas schools and colleges attended the conference, giving Texas the largest state representation. Of these 200, the A. and M. delegation accounted for 24, including Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Madry, Raleigh, N. C. The quartet made up of A. and M. students received much commendation for performance during the conference sessions.

Student delegates from all the Southern states and from some of the Northern states as well attended the conference, the total of registered delegates being 1400. The conference concerned itself with discussion and consideration of problems having to do with campus life. Outstanding Baptist leaders of Texas who were present included: Dr. George Truett, Dallas; Dr. Lee Scarborough, Fort Worth; Dr. P. Brooks, Waco; Mrs. J. M. Dawson, Waco. Prominent speakers from other states included Dr. S. D. Gordon, Boston; Dr. Carter Helm Jones, Atlanta; William Russell Owen, Rome, Georgia; and E. Madry, Raleigh, N. C.

16-Year-Old Crosby Youth Declared Most Active Club Worker In Nation; Is Farmer, Trader, Phone Operator

About the busiest and happiest boy in Harris county is Homer Sheffield, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sheffield of Crosby. Homer is the leader of the boy members of the agricultural clubs of the county. To prove his leadership, the Farm Journal of Philadelphia Saturday gave him a check for $250.

The money was first prize for the most active boy in farm club work in the United States. Homer has taken prizes in every contest that has come his way in boys' farm club work during the past four years.

Father Mail Carrier

And the peculiar thing about it is that Homer's father is a mail man, hasn't any farm, and isn't even thinking of getting one right away. But Homer is a born farmer and trader. He can also do a few other things. He never misses an opportunity to make money. In addition to working 10 acres of land on the "halves" he tends to eight Jersey milk cows, 76 White Leghorn chickens, some hogs, delivers a paper route and presides over the Crosby telephone switchboard all night long.

"When do you sleep?" Homer was asked. "I go to bed at 12 noon and get up about 6 p. m.," he answered. "That's plenty of sleep."

Homer is a healthy, strapping boy. He isn't overworked at all. Is going to A. and M. The $250 he got is going to ward an education at A. and M., he says. He expects to finish high school at Crosby next year by taking a summer course at Naacogoches to get certain credits. Then he will take four years at A. and M. College.

Homer is always on the judging teams at the various county exhibits. He works right beside E. G. Englestone of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, who is head of the boys' farm club work. Homer can judge cows, poultry and hogs as well as anybody.

His chief hobby is to buy up young calves and raise them and sell them. He bought a sow for $7, kept her on swill collected from neighbors, and sold her for $16.

Grows Two Bales. He raised two bales of cotton this year. He sold the first before the market tumbled and then had another bale that he couldn't get more than $50 for on the market, so he made arrangements with a mattress firm to make 10 mattresses out of the bale. He got $25 a mattress, paid $100 for the mattress company's trouble, and cleared $150 on the bale.

Homer makes money on everything he tries. If he sees it isn't going to pay he gets rid of it. His chickens on a year's average net him about $3 a month and he has hardly started. Most of the hens are too young to lay.

"Dad is sure tickled," Homer said. "He says he always did think I could make money in farming and trading and I know I can."

THE FARMER'S INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

By FRANK A. BRIGGS

In Farm and Ranch

While the bankers, merchants, lawyers, politicians, preachers and teachers are all engaged in offering suggestions to cotton farmers and trying to point the way out of the maze of difficulties they have gotten into, Farm and Ranch hesitates to join the mob of advisers or even to make a pretense of knowing just what each farmer should do to pull himself out of the hole onto solid ground.

In 1925 American cotton growers produced 16,104,000 bales. By increasing the acreage and spending a lot of money and much labor they succeeded in producing 16,627,000 bales in 1926. They have the right to produce as much more in 1927, or at least make an effort to do it, for there is no law in our Federal or State statutes to prevent it, nor would such a law be constitutional.

The farmer who produced nothing but cotton and has a bunch of work animals to feed is undoubtedly facing a hard winter. The farmer who considered his farm as a place to live and make a living may be disappointed in the price of cotton, but will not suffer, and you will find most Farm and Ranch readers in that class.

We have a cotton problem in the South. It may in one sense, be a National problem. The farmer himself has responsibilities. Who produced 32,731,000 bales of cotton in two years? Farmers, and the individual farmer who increased his acreage in face of warnings of over production, are reaping just what they planted. They have made the cotton. It is here, and more will be planted next year. It is up to every farmer to face the situation as it is and then make sure that conditions will be changed next year. As a merchant or a banker must succeed or fail according to the ability and good judgment he possesses, so must the farmer understand that farming is his business and that his success depends to a large extent upon his own efforts. If he attempts to make a killing by gambling on a single crop and fails he should be good enough to change his style of farming the following season. This, of course, has reference to those who control their own acreage. The same applies to tenants in a small degree. Half the ills of tenants are of their own making, for if tenant farming is unprofitable, those engaged therein could not make matters worse by moving to town and getting a job.

Farming is no longer an occupation. It is a business, the success of which, in a large measure, depends upon individual effort combined with co-operation with others engaged in the same industry.

DANGERS IN COLLEGE ATHLETICS

The American is heard frequently that American institutions of higher learning consist of athletic stadiums with universities attached.

Friends of organized college athletics are able to defend baseball, football, etc., from this criticism; but when it comes to the taking of human life as a company in an intercollegiate game, they must remain silent.

Two occurrences of this sort marred football games in Texas Saturday. A student of A. and M. College was slain on the Baylor gridiron, where the participants of A. and M. College, University met in fierce encounter.

A high school student from Houston was rendered unconscious by a blow received in a melee at Orange during a football contest.

It is a well recognized fact that college athletics, and especially football, demoralize the entire student body for weeks at a time.

In the fortnight preceding a great clash between rival athletic squads, little constructive work can be accomplished in the realm of study.

The student body receives little or no physical benefit from organized athletics, since only a chosen few take part in the strenuous battles between different colleges or universities; and since these few often find their health impaired by too strenuous exertion.

The only real justification for college athletics of the type common to American schools and colleges is found in the argument that they promote a spirit of give-and-take and quicken the sense of sportsmanship and fair play.

When intercollegiate sports become so bitter that they involve student bodies in rioting and homicides, their only justification is swept away and they stand revealed as mediums of mob appeal.

The great mass of students at Baylor and A. and M. College, together with the football and college authorities, no doubt deeply deplore the unfortunate occurrence of last Saturday.

Relatives and friends of the slain A. and M. student are forced to engage in a sorrowful study not provided in the curriculum, perhaps—the study of comparative values.

How puny and utterly worthless the winning or losing of a football game appears when weighed in the scales with a human life!

There is always danger in allowing partisan spirit to go unchecked. College football tactics in recent years have included an increasing use of mass psychology.

Every other consideration is subordinated to the desire to win. As a result of this form of appeal the student body becomes keyed up to an irrational pitch.

It is converted into a mob and while the game is in progress its actions may conform closely to the behavior of mobs in general. True, violence is rarely seen among spectators at a football game, but neither is it seen in several other well established forms of mob expression.

The desire to win is being given entirely too much emphasis in college athletics. The real background and basis for collegiate contests is being lost sight of.

The Houston Post-Dispatch.

EASY BAIL THE PASS-KEY TO FREEDOM

Easy bail is the pass-key to freedom for the professional criminal. Through organizations the professional criminal can generally secure bail. If the organization does not provide it from funds set aside for that purpose, then it is not a hard matter, in Texas, the lawyer will make arrangements for it. When free, the criminal can go out and steal enough to protect his bondsman, and to pay his attorney's fee also.

The right to secure bail should not be denied a person charged with crime whose previous record, in the eyes of the law, has been clean, except, of course, in cases of premeditated murder, rape or other violent or heinous crime.

The public, however, has a right to protection against habitual and professional criminals, and bail should be denied such if it is at all possible to bring them to trial within a reasonable time after arrest.

The ease with which criminals secure bail encourages crime. If a judge happens to deny bail, the writ of habeas corpus is issued and the prisoner goes free. The police and sheriffs spend the people's money in running down criminals and the courts turn them loose on writs of habeas corpus, and they go out to rob or kill, as the case may be.

Known criminals should be denied bail. The law never intended that they should be given freedom in order that they might go out and commit more crimes.

Keep them in jail and give a speedy trial. Arresting criminals will then cease to be a joke—Farm and Ranch.

BRYAN GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

BY THE STUDENTS

GRADE HASH

"Evangeline"
The Evangelines of the 7th grade English class ordered have arrived and have been distributed among the pupils. We are going to study Evangeline as part of our English course and have displayed much enthusiasm and interest thus far.

Evangeline is the greatest of Longfellow's poems. It is undoubtedly the most tragic and popular poem ever written in the English language.

The plot was furnished by Hawthorne, who was unable to write in poetry and he agreed not to write in prose until Longfellow had made an attempt to put it into poetry.

The scenes were laid in Acadia, which is now called Nova Scotia. The time of Evangeline was shortly after the French and Indian War. The English had the Acadians dispersed through the colonies and did not regard family ties, in this way the sweethearts, the hero and heroine of this story, were separated.

These two simple peasant lovers from the little village of Grand Pre roamed over the continent hunting for each other. Evangeline never tired of her search and at an old age as a Sister of Mercy she found her lover dying in a hospital.

The pupils are very interested in their work and they are very progressive. They especially like it because it is a love story.—Shirley Walker.

Our Sixth Grade Picnic.
Our sixth grade had a picnic Friday at noon. It was pouring down rain that day. We all had our dinner, therefore we did not want to put the picnic off another week. We couldn't roast our weenies in the rain, so Mrs. Butler took them over to the domestic science room and put them in the oven and baked them. About eleven o'clock we passed quietly up to the gymnasium. We had weenies, pickles, mustard, buns, marshmallows, and all kinds of fruits for our lunch. We had a very good time during the two hours we were there.—Foy Martin.

Program in Auditorium.
Wednesday morning the physical training club gave a short play and an Irish Folk Dance. The following were in the play: Mary Jane Nall, Winona McNeely, Lucy Merka and Helen Brown. The program was enjoyed very much.

Mr. Hall informed us Wednesday morning that if there was any misbehavior we would not be allowed to see any more of the plays. We will have a holiday, Thursday, November 11th. It will be the first holiday that the intermediate grades have had and we are afraid we will not know how to act.

RYTHMS MADE BY THE FIFTH GRADE
"Mother"
I live you, mother,
I would not have another,
No, not another,
And I pity the child that hasn't any mother.—Louise Dyer.

"The Old Man"
There was an old man,
Who lived on a hill,
He married a woman
To suit his own will.
—Ada Cheatham.

"My Doll"
Sometimes my doll just cries and cries,
But still she has pretty eyes,
And she's still so sweet
That sometimes I just kiss her feet.

"Evangeline"
The Evangelines of the 7th grade English class ordered have arrived and have been distributed among the pupils. We are going to study Evangeline as part of our English course and have displayed much enthusiasm and interest thus far.

Evangeline is the greatest of Longfellow's poems. It is undoubtedly the most tragic and popular poem ever written in the English language.

The plot was furnished by Hawthorne, who was unable to write in poetry and he agreed not to write in prose until Longfellow had made an attempt to put it into poetry.

The scenes were laid in Acadia, which is now called Nova Scotia. The time of Evangeline was shortly after the French and Indian War. The English had the Acadians dispersed through the colonies and did not regard family ties, in this way the sweethearts, the hero and heroine of this story, were separated.

These two simple peasant lovers from the little village of Grand Pre roamed over the continent hunting for each other. Evangeline never tired of her search and at an old age as a Sister of Mercy she found her lover dying in a hospital.

The pupils are very interested in their work and they are very progressive. They especially like it because it is a love story.—Shirley Walker.

Our Sixth Grade Picnic.
Our sixth grade had a picnic Friday at noon. It was pouring down rain that day. We all had our dinner, therefore we did not want to put the picnic off another week. We couldn't roast our weenies in the rain, so Mrs. Butler took them over to the domestic science room and put them in the oven and baked them. About eleven o'clock we passed quietly up to the gymnasium. We had weenies, pickles, mustard, buns, marshmallows, and all kinds of fruits for our lunch. We had a very good time during the two hours we were there.—Foy Martin.

Program in Auditorium.
Wednesday morning the physical training club gave a short play and an Irish Folk Dance. The following were in the play: Mary Jane Nall, Winona McNeely, Lucy Merka and Helen Brown. The program was enjoyed very much.

Mr. Hall informed us Wednesday morning that if there was any misbehavior we would not be allowed to see any more of the plays. We will have a holiday, Thursday, November 11th. It will be the first holiday that the intermediate grades have had and we are afraid we will not know how to act.

RYTHMS MADE BY THE FIFTH GRADE

I live you, mother,
I would not have another,
No, not another,
And I pity the child that hasn't any mother.—Louise Dyer.

"The Old Man"
There was an old man,
Who lived on a hill,
He married a woman
To suit his own will.

"My Doll"
Sometimes my doll just cries and cries,
But still she has pretty eyes,
And she's still so sweet
That sometimes I just kiss her feet.

Great Interest In Poultry Show States Boriskie
V. J. Boriskie, manager of the Poultry Show and County Agent C. L. Beason report much interest being taken in the poultry show to be held in Bryan December 9, 10 and 11.

The poultry directory, carrying announcement of the show and the liberal prizes offered, contains the ads of the leading poultry raisers of Brazos county and calls attention to the fact that Brazos county is one of the leading poultry centers of the State. If all the poultry raisers will get in behind the organization it will not be long before the world will begin to know something of the fine quality poultry being produced in Brazos county, the home of the A. and M. College.

The offer of the W. J. Lawler, Milling Company, Dallas, and the Universal Milling Company, Fort Worth, each offering 500 pounds of laying mash for the best pen of six laying hens, is attracting considerable attention, and will, likely, prove to be one of the largest classes in the show. This is the utility class provided for at the suggestion of D. H. Reid, poultry husbandman of the College.

If you are a poultry raiser, don't fail to put your announcement in the directory. Help boost Brazos county poultry.

John S. Morgan Passes Away Here Sunday Afternoon

(From Monday's Daily)
After a long and painful illness, John S. Morgan, passed into death's sweet and peaceful sleep, Sunday afternoon, November 7, 1926, at 2:15 o'clock, at the home of his brother, C. C. Morgan in this city. Since the first of the past July, he had been confined to his bed, and although all that skilled physicians and surgeons could do, was done, nothing stayed the dread disease, and death resulted at the time above stated. The faithful life companion, the loving mother, the loyal brother and sister, brought to him every cheerful and helpful thing that devoted hands and hearts could find, but his life slipped away from them daily, despite their tender care and loving attention. God's plans are past finding out. His ways human minds cannot understand, but Faith lays hold upon the promise "all things work together for good to those who love the Lord, to those who are called according to His purpose".

With the Christian's hope, bright and beautiful, John Morgan lived in the way that claimed the blessed promise, and his death while bringing sorrow to his family and friends, was but the passing into an eternal rest.

John Solon Morgan was born in Reliance community, this county and was a son of the late W. H. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan. The beloved mother was with her son when death came. He was 40 years, 9 months and 17 days, and had been a resident of Brazos county all his life. Some years ago he was married to Miss Mary Byrne, also of this county and to their union one son was born, Wade Morgan, aged 2 years.

The funeral was held this Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of C. C. Morgan in this city, conducted by Rev. Roy S. Holoman and Rev. R. E. Day. The body was taken to the old home church at Reliance where neighbors and life long friends of the deceased had gathered in great crowd to pay last tribute of love and respect to the deceased. Interment was made in the Reliance cemetery near the church, and beneath a mound of exquisite flowers, floral tributes from sympathetic friends and loving relatives in Bryan, over Brazos county, and from other cities where the deceased was known and loved, they left him, to await the resurrection morn.

Those who survive to mourn the loss of J. Solon Morgan are: his widow, one son, Wade Morgan, his mother, Mrs. W. H. Morgan; one brother, C. C. Morgan of Bryan; and five sisters: Mrs. J. H. Thibodeaux of Fort Worth; Mrs. L. L. Lindsey, Crosby; Mrs. H. P. Damsby, Mrs. Clarence Saxon, Mrs. Roy Nunn, Mrs. C. M. Bethany, of Bryan.

The pall bearers were: J. E. Brown, Charles Saxon, H. B. McDowell, R. O. Ferguson, J. D. Martin, C. A. Buchanan.

hot flashes
"Some time ago when I was very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies but I could not keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered."
"I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon."
"Some friend suggested that I take Cardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better. I didn't quit. I kept it up and did fine. 'Art Song' Subject, Music Study Club

"Art Song" was the subject of the program at the meeting of the Music Study Club, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 4, at Carnegie Library. In the absence of the club president, Miss Alice Burtis, the vice president, Mrs. J. M. Ferguson, called the meeting to order promptly at 3 o'clock with an unusually large number present. During the business session, it was voted to change the hour of meeting from 3 o'clock p. m. to 3:30 p. m., and all members are urged to remember the change of hour. Miss Icy Goen was unanimously elected as a member of the club.

Bullock led the program of the day in an interesting manner, emphasizing the importance of the "Ideal of Characterization in Art Song," while Mrs. J. H. Conway illustrated on the piano as Mrs. Bullock gave the comparison. Stop by step, from Schubert to Wolf, speaking of the five composers who are chief masters of the Art Song, Mrs. Bullock explained the perfect balance of dramatic and lyric elements, making it very interesting and instructive.

Mrs. D. S. Buchanan gave a vocal solo, "I Bring You Heartsease," by Braumcomb, with Miss Kathleen Higgs accompanying.

The club adjourned until November 18th.

Williamson county is wild-cattling for oil and of course if we are fortunate enough to get oil all our troubles will be over," he said.

KURTEN BOY WINS AWARD TO CHICAGO

HERMAN HENDERSON WINS SANTA FE TRIP TO WINDY CITY
Fourth Time

JIM KURTEN, BRITTEN HENDERSON AND CLIFF LOPEZ PREVIOUS WINNERS

State Club Leader Sterling C. Evans advises County Agent C. L. Benson that the three judges have, after much deliberation, passed on the club records submitted in competition for the Santa Fe trip to Chicago, and find that one of the awards goes to Herman Henderson of Brazos county. This is the fourth time in succession that Brazos county has won one of the Santa Fe trips, and a singular thing about it is that the Kurten club has thus far furnished the winner, Jim Kurten being the first boy to win, Britten Henderson the second, and Cliff Lopez the third.

The competition for this trip was the keenest this year in Brazos county it has ever been, John Perrone and Johnnie Niggazio of Steele's Store, Tillman Jones of Reliance, Arthur Yeager, Louis Kurten, Bryan Hearn, Jesse Gilpin, Wallace Sabo, Joe Roth and Herman Henderson of Kurten being among those competing.

Seven of the 19 trips given by the Santa Fe railroad were awarded on records made on cotton, Herman Henderson, however, winning his on poultry.

District Agent Meets With the Poultry Raisers

District Agent Geo. W. Johnson met with the arrangement committee of the poultry show Thursday night when further details of the show were discussed. The poultry directory and announcement of the show is now in the hands of the printer, but a few poultry ads are yet to be handed in.

Since this announcement is also to be a directory, Brazos county poultry raiser should be quick to list their poultry and poultry products, which are now ready for sale or which may be ready for the market later. Better hurry if you want an ad in this directory.

Two Bryan Girls Are Students of John Tarleton

John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville is a branch of A. and M. and is a model of its kind. It is not only an ideal institution for the pursuit of an education, but it is a college which gives to its students an opportunity to form friendships which will endure throughout life and which will foster a spirit of loyalty not only to the college and to each other but also to that spirit of Americanism which will ever be an incentive toward their best efforts.

Bryan is most capably represented at Tarleton by Annie Laurie Cook and Cora Erma Cook. These girls are both making excellent records and on account of their personalities number their friends by the scores among their fellow students.

History repeats itself. Noah was the first to have trouble in finding a place to park his ark.

Missionary Society Of College Baptists Has Meeting Nov. 3

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church at College, held one of the best meetings of the year on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. Ness. This was the regular monthly business and social meeting. The devotion was led by president, Mrs. V. A. Little, and was inspirational throughout. After an important business session, Mrs. R. L. Brown made a report of the recent South-wide Student Conference held at Birmingham, Alabama, and which was attended by Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Brown and twenty-four A. and M. students. Mrs. Brown spoke most interestingly of the conference, and as she told of the high spiritual notes of the devotional hours of the meeting and of the splendid addresses made before the body by the leading men of the denomination in Texas and other states, those who heard her caught a glimpse of the mighty things that are being done for the young people at this time. Rev. and Mrs. Brown are proud of the fact that A. and M. College had the largest attendance of students of any church.

The hostess then served a delicious refreshment course to the following members present: Messdames Ray Flagg, R. P. Pearson, Lloyd Smith, Earl Phillips, A. Mitchell, Walter Lloyd, Jim Shows, W. L. Ayres, H. T. Holland, V. A. Little, J. H. Carroll, R. L. Brown, M. K. Thornton, H. Ness.

Col. Happy Harry Haines, late Republican candidate for governor, has lost his job. It is now up to the Republicans to create a job for him as they did for Dr. George Butte, who sacrificed himself for the Republican party two years ago.

BAYLORITES ASK NOT TO PLAY A. & M.

WACO STUDENTS DISPLEASED WITH PRESIDENT'S EXPLANATION.

A. & M. Blamed

BAYLOR STUDENT BODY RECALLS INCIDENTS OF OTHER YEARS.

WACO, Nov. 6.—Petitions urging severance of all athletic relationships with Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College are being circulated on the campus of Baylor University. More than 500 students have signed the petitions, which voice disapproval of the action of Baylor authorities in letting the university share equally the blame for the fight of last Saturday's Baylor-A. and M. game in which Cadet C. M. Sessums, Dallas, was fatally injured.

We, the undersigned students of Baylor University, reviewing the happenings of Saturday, October 30, 1926, during which a car loaded with Baylor girls was attacked by A. and M. cadets, and an A. and M. student was killed in the resulting melee, when Baylor men rushed to the defense of the girls, do resolve the following:

"That Baylor students have hesitated to take action until a conference could be held between the presidents of the two institutions, desiring a mutual settlement;

"That the results of the above-mentioned conference held Baylor to share equally the blame of the unfortunate affair;

"That Baylor students, refusing to believe that the defense of womanhood should result in Baylor being blamed in the least, and believing that those students of A. and M. who initiated, joined in and condoned their action of Saturday to have violated every principle of a sportsman's code, and recalling other incidents occurring when Baylor has defeated the A. and M. football team in previous years;

"That, for the above stated reasons, Baylor students desire and urge a severance of all athletic relationships with A. and M. College of Texas."

Former Bryan Girl Wins Poetry Prize

The Pen Women of Dallas each month hold a contest. For the month of October the prize was awarded to the best poem of sixteen lines. It will be of interest to Bryan people to know that Mrs. Ada B. Bates, nee Miss Ada Board, formerly of Bryan, was winner of third prize and Miss Violet Short, also formerly of Bryan, was chairman of the contest. The poem is given below:

TO A HIGHROAD
By Ada B. Bates (Associate)
A prisoner of circumstance—
In rural town on wind-swept plain—
I watch the highroad with my eyes,
And feel it with my heart and brain.
A narrow strip of earth it looks,
But more by far to me it means.
For in some secret, mystic way
It brings me substance for my dreams.
It speaks of things which I know not—
Of progress, life, and moving throngs;
It feels the thrill of usefulness
For which my heart so sorely longs.
O magic belt that feels the pulse
Of life that never has an end!
Accept this tribute of my verse,
I sing to you—my only friend!

BRYAN HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM ENTERTAINED BY ROTARY CLUB; SCHOOL BOYS ON PROGRAM

The Bryan Rotary Club entertained the High School football team at Wednesday's luncheon. The program was in charge of Honorable W. S. Barron, who is introducing each member of the team, used the nick-name which each member of the squad carries. Talks were made by Horace Damsby, Sam Trant, Louis Beard, Mike Barron, and others.

In speaking of the limitations of football, Louis Beard stated that studies should come before football; that the age limit and number of years which a football player may have are incentives coming as an important period in life; that the spirit of the team and student body arouse loyalty not otherwise possible; that the finances necessary for the support of a ball team should be appropriated by the Board of Education just as for any regular course in school.

In speaking of High School objectives, Mike Barron said that the player should live a clean life, play square with the team, and make football a real incentive for education.

Bryan Delphian Chapter In Meet

The Bryan Delphian Chapter met in regular session Friday afternoon at the Club room in Carnegie Library. Following the usual brief business session, during which the president, Mrs. M. Francis, presided, the program for the day was carried out in a most interesting manner, with Mrs. Geo. Eisert as leader.

The course of study for the year is based upon the general subject of "Modern Nations." Beginning with the Roman Empire at its zenith, the club has traced the origin and development of all nations that have contributed to world history and development since the day of Rome's supremacy.

The subject of Friday's lesson was "Europe from A. D. 1000 to the end of the Renaissance." With the background of Ancient and Medieval History thus furnished, the club is now ready to begin the study of Modern Nations and Modern Institutions which found their beginning during the Middle Ages.

The next regular meeting will be on November 19th, at the usual hour and place. The subject will be "Aspects of the Renaissance." Mrs. S. E. Eberstadt will be the leader on that day and an interesting afternoon is assured to all who attend. The president urges all members to be present, as the early programs of the year are designed to introduce the more modern study which follows later.

Tilman Morgan Is Killed By Shotgun

News reached Bryan this morning from Wheelock that Tilman Morgan, aged about 50 years was found in his cow lot about six o'clock dead, with the top of his head blown off from a shot gun. An inquest was held by W. G. Currie, justice of the peace and the verdict was not decided as to whether it was accidental or suicide. Mr. Morgan got up early this morning and went out to milk his cow. A little later he came back for the shot gun, ostensibly to shoot a polecat. A few minutes later a shot was heard and a little later found dead.

Deceased leave a wife and two sons, Norman and Jewell, both of Lubbock. He is the brother-in-law of Joe Howard and Mrs. Green Stallings, both of Bryan.

The Georgetown commission is looking to the installing of new machinery and Mr. Ward's visit was to find out Bryan's plan. Bryan Baptists' To Inspect New Corsicana Church

A number of the members of the First Baptist Church of this city, including the Building Committee and a part of the Finance Committee for the new church building soon to be erected on the site of the present church, will go to Corsicana this week to inspect a church, recently completed by that city by the First Baptist congregation, and using the same plan contemplated by the Bryan First Baptist congregation. The party will go in cars, and will spend the day looking over this new church, which is said to be one of the most beautiful and most efficient church workshops in this part of Texas.

form, that of a reserve officer, made ridiculous by Baylor's cheer leaders, without offering rebuke.

Occupants in Costume.

"Then came that Ford loaded with girls and a man driver, all dressed in costume. The cadets, as well as A. and M. College campus residents and other spectators, all thought that the passengers were boys, for no one here dreamed that men students would permit their co-eds to attempt such a dangerous undertaking.

The little yell leader from A. and M., who so gloriously demonstrated his ability as a leader, and whose brains and tact alone stopped the fight before more of his fellows were killed, had gone in person and asked the Baylor cheer leader if he intended using a 'Buckling Ford' was told 'No'.

The A. and M. leader then made plain the fact that the use of such a Ford would both provoke and insult the cadets. It is true that there was no 'Buckling Ford' present, but this one was just as obnoxious in the eyes of the cadets.

Several cadets intent on switching of the ignition, jumped upon the Ford, causing one girl, who was hanging on the side, to fall off.

None were hurt. The one who fell off was escorted from the field by an A. and M. senior who was beaten as he carried the girl to safety. We apologize to the ladies of Baylor for this incident, because one of our traditions is that no A. and M. man has ever willingly, or knowingly, harmed a woman.

Cast Aspersions on Cadets.

"Erroneous reports from Baylor continue to state that their women were attacked by A. and M. cadets, leaving the impression that A. and M. students would attack a woman. The Baylor Lariat states: 'No football game is worth the life of any individual. However, Baylor has no apology to offer for the defense of her women; which indicates that they have no remorse of conscience from the death of the cadet. The protection of womanhood is an ideal foremost in the hearts of every true American citizen. However, the jeopardizing of a woman's safety is contrary to this ideal. Having women on this Ford knowing that the Ford would excite action, is not congruent with the idea of protection of womanhood. No wonder if the man who murdered Lieutenant Charles M. Sessums, fully thirty yards from the Ford and after all women had left the field, had the idea of protection of womanhood in his heart? We also wonder if the malicious Baylor student who openly printed on the back of an envelope addressed to the A. and M. College student after the affair, 'The A. and M. boy who started the fight was killed' was deeply concerned in the protection of womanhood?"

Trouble Pre-Meditated.

It is evident that this trouble was pre-meditated because, according to a member of the Waco police department, Baylor students were equipped, before and during the game, with clubs and sticks. These clubs were seen before the fight by disinterested parties seated in the grandstand and bleachers. Our corps has been called 'The Conference Bullies' but would fair-minded people believe this after seeing some 1500 Baylor students, sympathizers, and men in the Baylor football uniform, armed with clubs, sticks and iron rods, attack and brutally beat an unarmed group of some 400 A. and M. students, and even go so far as to kill one of that number? Is this term of 'Conference Bullies' justifiable when it is a known fact that 300 of the 400 cadets stayed in the stands upon request of officials during the clash? To prevent more of our students falling victims to murderous onslaughts of Baylor students, the A. and M. band play The Star Spangled Banner. Immediately, reflecting their loyalty to country and military discipline, every cadet snapped to rigid attention and saluted. Some of the cadets were struck while the National Anthem was being played. Such acts on the part of Baylor students not only displays base cowardice, but shows gross disrespect to our Flag and Country.

Invite Criticism.

"The Baylor student body, having never visited the A. and M. College, has never had an opportunity to know the hospitality and good sportsmanship of the Texas Aggies. We openly invite the criticism of S. M. U., Rice Institute, Texas University, and T. C. U., who student bodies have been our guests here.

With Reference to Severance or Continuance of Athletic Relations, that is a matter of complete indifference to us, and its disposition we consider rest properly in the hands of the authorities of the College.

Baylor Apathetic.

"Moreover, the student body of A. and M. College does not believe that adequate efforts to place the responsibility for the blow that resulted in the death of Cadet Lieutenant Sessums have been carried on at Baylor University.

"Baylor students have directly rebuked their President by repudiating his signed agreement with our President, which was a result of eight or ten hours careful deliberation on the part of officials of both schools in joint meeting. By this action of the Baylor students, we feel justified in making this statement, it being endorsed by our entire student body."

A. and M. Senior Committee composed of the following students: S. F. Brewster, Belton; J. D. Langford, Greenville; L. D. Durst, Crockett; L. W. Webb, Comanche; T. A. Vance, Texarkana; E. J. E. Zapp, Houston; R. A. Goodson, Jacksonville; W. H. Torlan, Waco; T. R. Falkenberg, Taylor; J. L. Franke, El Campo.

Mrs. Lawrence Is Chairman of Children's Group

Mrs. W. D. Lawrence of Bryan has been appointed chairman in the Sixth Congressional District of the Children's Founders Roll of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial, and has entered upon her part-time work.

Mrs. Lawrence was appointed by Mrs. F. N. Nelson of Houston, who is the field director of the Children's Founders' Roll, for Texas.

Eight counties will be under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence and county chairmen have been appointed as follows: Brazos, Mrs. Ralph Howell, Bryan; Leon, Mrs. M. L. Burnett, Norman; Navarro, Mrs. L. D. Adams, Corsicana; Limestone, Mrs. W. M. White, Mexico; Hill, Mrs. E. S. Watson, Hillsboro; Milam, Mrs. B. J. Baskin, Cameron; Robertson, Mrs. J. W. Horlock, Hearne; Madison, Mrs. J. L. Broadway, Madisonville.

Mrs. W. D. Lawrence is a member of L. S. Ross Chapter, U. D. C., of Bryan, and a loyal descendant of a brave Confederate soldier. Her father, J. H. Blue, enlisted in the Confederate Army in 1861 at the very beginning of the war, as Private, Company Q, 5th Texas, Hood's Brigade, and served bravely, as only Hood's Immortal Brigade served, until he was seriously injured at the Battle of Gettysburg. In this patriotic service to which Mrs. Lawrence has been called, she "takes the torch" in loving memory of the Confederacy and its never dying history. The Eagle congratulates Mrs. Lawrence upon her position of honor and trust.

Phone 36, The Eagle, if you want to see one of the prettiest lines of Christmas Cards ever shown in Bryan. Our representative will call.

Mrs. J. B. Stevenson returned last night from Houston after a visit to her daughters, Miss Maude Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richey of College will regret to learn that their little daughter is ill with pneumonia at their home on the campus.

Boys' and Girls' Club Department

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

George Barron Praised.

County Agent R. B. Ewing of Robertson county is greatly elated over a boost recently given his work by George Barron, formerly county superintendent of Grimes county, but now rural supervisor of schools for the Department of Education, Austin, Texas. Mr. Barron urged Robertson county teachers to equip themselves with farm levels and canning outfits that they might help terrace hill lands and can various and sundry food products. He pointed out that the Extension Service could furnish expert help in showing how the canning could be done and that the County Agent could assist the larger boys in terracing demonstrations. Mr. Barron is a brother of our fellow townsman, Hon. W. S. Barron, and his many friends are glad to note his advocacy of that practical education which relates the work of the school to the solution of the problems of the farm and the home, two of the pillars upon which rests our boasted civilization, say what you may about it.

Food, Feed And Money.

Acting as toastmaster at a recent banquet in Dallas, were 300 guests were served "raised in Texas" products. Colonel Frank P. Holland, of the Farm and Ranch, said, among other things, "Show me a farmer who raises his food and feed at home and I will show you a man with a bank account and a good home." Colonel, you are talking pretty plain about us farmers.

Nature Beautiful.

Club members, don't forget to observe the beauties of the Autumn. Look at yonder landscape. Mother Nature, as she tucks her children, the trees and shrubs, away for a long wintry sleep is painting their faces in most beautiful colors, the blending of which no artist has ever approached.

Women Canning.

If the agricultural committee of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce had done nothing more than to encourage the wonderful feed crop our farmers have produced, its existence would have been amply justified. But it has done much more, as evidenced by the report of women who put up more than 7,000 quarts of food products of various kinds, thus showing the wonderful resources in Brazos county soils which merely need the tickling of the hoe to smile with an abundant harvest. Let's have some more tickling—of the soil.

Clubs to Check Up.

For the two months ending December 31, all clubs competing for the Howell Lumber Company prize will be scored on enrollment, attendance, keeping of record, and progress of work, or results. The secretaries of each club will please read this announcement to the club members. All records should be in not later than December 15, in order to give time to check up the work.

Plan for New Year.

Now as your club year ends, begin to plan your work for another year. Let's make it a year of "big game." We have had a good time. It has been ours to scatter sunshine and make buoyant the life about us. Difficulties have vanished in face of our determination to conquer. The fires of ambition have been made to burn brighter as we have resolved to get more out of life by putting more into it. We have learned to know each other better; to be more tolerant and, therefore, more helpful. The County Agent would not take a million for the esteem and confidence Brazos county club members have shown him. Onward and upward; let's go!

However, when we stop to think that our wheat crop is greater than last year by $30,347,000; our corn crop by $67,230,000; our tame hay by $13,000,000; our oat crop by $20,559,000; grain sorghums by $8,905,000, we can readily see that our gain this year over last has been $140,041,000 as against our loss on cotton of $63,850,000. When it comes to averages, Texas is about as good as the best. Let's stop looking at the hole in the doughnut.

Want Club Work.

Miss Pearl Jones, teacher of the Rye school, in a letter to the County Agent, has the following to say: "The girls and boys here at the Rye school are eager to know about club work." Bill knows about club work." and she invites the County Agent and the Home Demonstration Agent out to help her organize a club at that school. Wherever ambitious boys and girls read of the achievements of others in club work they are moved to emulate their example, and if possible surpass them. In speaking of his club work, one boy writes that when he heard of other Team Work Essential.

About 1788 the people of Denmark abolished serfdom and began the upward march toward a better agriculture with the result that they are today said to be the best educated farmers in the world. Their economic independence and the wonderful progress they have made may be accounted for in just two words, "team work." It was team work that enabled them to build a system of schools making possible their educational advancement, without which they would have been left to grope in darkness; it was team work that enabled the Danes to work out a system of co-operatives which has brought them economic independence, and furnished the world a splendid example of co-operative organization. It is "team work" that will bring us success, too.

Striving Always To Do a Better Job

At a recent gathering of some of our managers and officials, the founder of our Company said that "when we are self-complacent, easily satisfied, we are reaching a dangerous place."

No real merchant ever reaches such a place in his activities. Each day's problem is never so well cared for that it cannot be improved upon tomorrow. One good deed deserves not alone another but many of them.

Like all human beings, we make mistakes, but we are not satisfied to permit like mistakes to recur. Serving you well is not enough. Serving you better and better all the time, as we study the needs of our patrons, is "carrying on" in a way that constantly adds to your enjoyment and your profit when buying from us.

When we have reached the apex of this endeavor, then self-complacency might be forgiven. Not until then. But such achievements are unknown.

little nation built a home-made ship. It was armed with a few home-made cannon and was then manned by a little crew of fishermen and ferry-men. Two efforts to launch her failed ignominiously, with the vessel remaining high on land, but the third attempt was successful, and on October 21, 1797, the United States Navy was born when this 175 foot long product of some Boston woodworkers finally rode at anchor off Ballard & Hart's shipyard in Boston harbor.

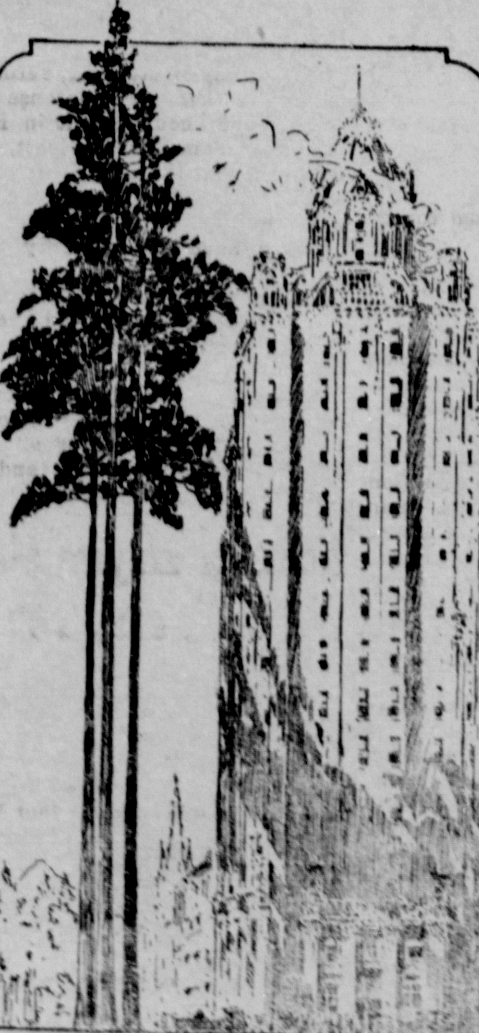

With the crashing of a bottle of fine old Madeira across her bow she became the "Constitution," a name which won undying glory and fame in the annals of the sea and in the history of this country.

Young Holmes' Poem

Upon several occasions in modern times this almost sacred veteran has been threatened by the junk man. The close of the war of 1812 saw also the close of the active career of the Constitution as a fighting ship, and early in the administration of President Andrew Jackson the old frigate showed such decided signs of age and declining usefulness that it was seriously proposed to break her up. This was the first such proposal.

A young law student at Cambridge, named Oliver Wendell Holmes, saw this announcement in a newspaper and upon the impulse he wrote a poem, "Old Ironsides." The thrill which the poem sent through every heart was the salvation of the old ship, for the Secretary of the Navy, yielding to the sentiment of the hour, had her hauled up at the Charlestown Navy Yard, thoroughly repaired and given a new lease on life.

The time came again at length when the Constitution, as a cruiser, had passed her usefulness despite this overhauling. She was stationed for many years at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, once, at the outbreak of the War of Rebellion, narrowly escaping capture, and later was laid up as an inmate of "Rotter Row" along with the other debris of the old navy at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. It happened that just as the second proposal to break her up was advanced the people of Boston were preparing for the centennial of her launching, and the result was that the sentiment of the country again came to her succor.

Congressional Inconsistency

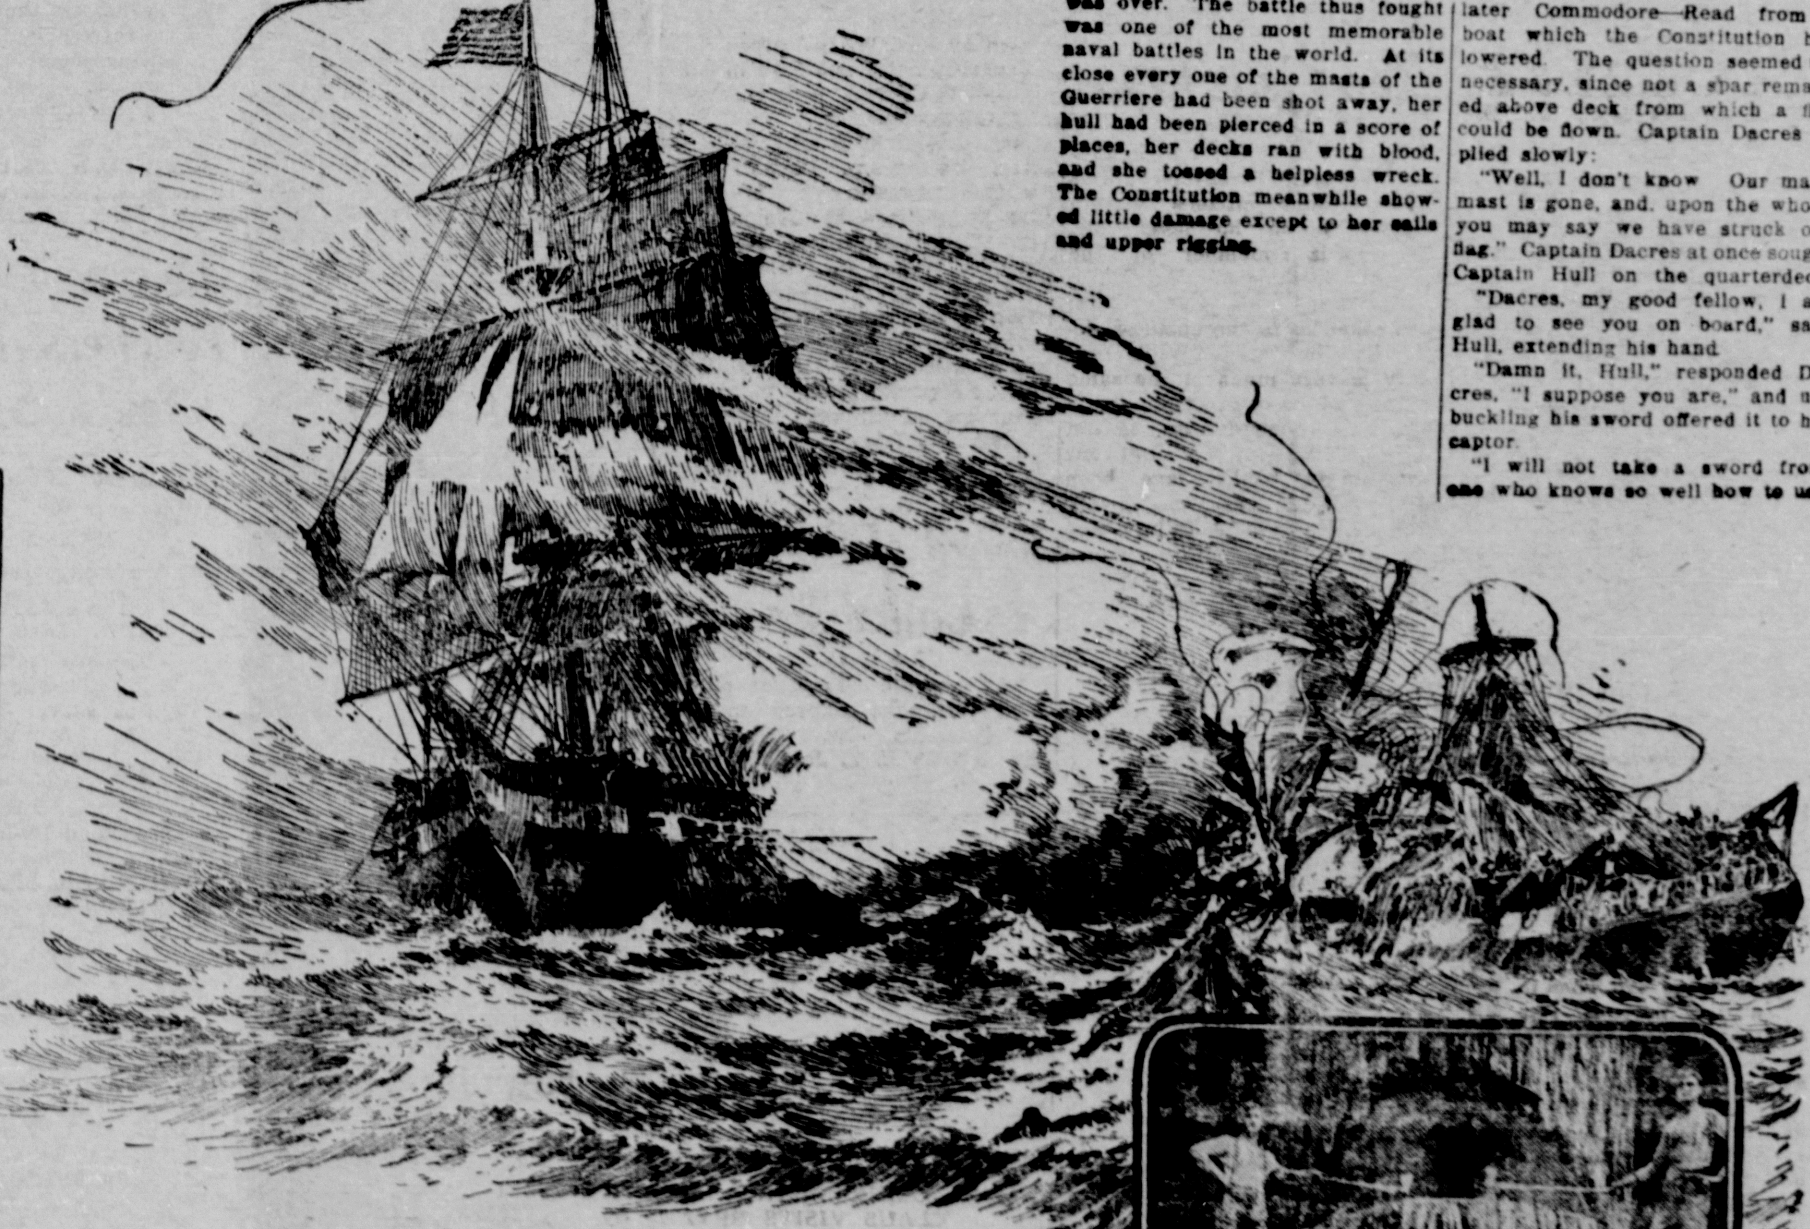

An act passed by the last Congress authorized the Navy Department to restore the old ship as a monument to the glorious days when the young republic won on the battle for its existence, but Congress declined at the same time to appropriate the half million dollars required. The "Save the Old Ironsides Fund" was started by some patriotic citizens. It now has more than $130,000 of the

By a curious circumstance the trees to be used for these purposes are to be cut on Bainbridge Island, in Puget Sound, opposite Seattle, which was named in honor of Commodore William Bainbridge, who commanded the Constitution and fought her in many of her important engagements.

Maiden Voyage

The Constitution after being launched was at once placed in the command of Captain Samuel Nicholas and on July 22, 1793, started on her first cruise. Cruisers of funds necessary, and with the recent gift by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association of new masts and spars, which would have been a large item of the expenditure necessary to refit the frigate.

Tripoli were preying upon American commerce, and in August of that year a squadron sailed for the Mediterranean to operate against that power and to defend American shipping. The Constitution received her baptism of fire in the bombardment of Tripoli on August 2, 1804.

The war of 1812, in the chief events of which the Constitution figured brilliantly, served to give her her greatest laurels. The frigate was returning from Europe at the outbreak of the war and when nearing the American coast suddenly came upon a squadron of British war vessels, consisting of a cruise of sixty-four guns and four frigates, the Shannon, Guerriere, Albatross, and Andromeda, in addition to a brig and schooner. Unable to cope with such a force, Captain Hull, then in command of the Constitution, set all sail and after a chase lasting for three days and nights escaped into Boston harbor.

About this time Captain James Richard Dacres, in command of the Guerriere, sent a bombastic challenge to meet any American frigate of similar size "for the purpose of having a social tete-a-tete." Captain Hull and Dacres were not strangers, for they had met before the war when their two vessels were in the Delaware. Each had boasted the strength and power of the navy of his own country. "You may take good care of that ship of yours if ever I catch her in the Constitution," said Captain Hull. The good natured controversy ended in the wager of a hat over the result of the encounter should it ever happen that the two met in combat.

Hull Wins Hat

It was therefore with a sentiment of pleasure that Captain Hull one fine morning discerned the British frigate bearing down on him. The tete-a-tete was soon on, in good earnest and in half an hour
